1. The large smelting and foundry complex (Huettenkombinat) being built in the vicinity of Stalinogrod is supposed to produce more ferrous products than all other Polish smelting plants together.
2. Polish economic planners intended to build a number of the furnaces needed for the Stalinogrod foundry complex from specifications provided by the Soviets, but have decided that this will take too much time. It is expected, therefore, that Poland will approach foreign firms concerning the purchase of electric-arc furnaces.
